THE UNIVERSITY OF MIAMI MISSION STATEMENT

The University of Miami's mission is to educate and nurture students, to create knowledge, and to provide service to our community and beyond. Committed to excellence and proud of the diversity of our University family, we strive to develop future leaders of our nation and the world.

AN INTRODUCTION TO THE UNIVERSITY OF MIAMI

History:

Although many people over a period of years played a role in the establishment of the University of Miami, it was William Jennings Bryan who first promoted the need and stimulated a community planning effort for a university to serve the growing Miami area. In 1925 the University received its charter and in the following year enrolled its first students. On March 18, 1926, Bowman Foster Ashe was named executive secretary and subsequently president of the University by the Board of Regents.

The cornerstone of the Merrick Building, which was to house classrooms and administrative offices, was laid on February 4, 1926, on land donated by George E. Merrick, founder of Coral Gables. Merrick also donated $5 million to be matched by other sources. When Merrick's donation could not be matched, the work that had begun on the Merrick Building ceased and a decision was made to convert the partially constructed Anastasia Hotel into temporary quarters for the University. In the rush to finish the Anastasia Building before the announced opening of the University in October, cardboard-covered partitions were used to separate rooms, leading to the name "Cardboard College." Construction of the Merrick Building would not resume until 1949, 23 years after it started.

In September, just before the first classes were to begin, the monster hurricane of 1926 swept through South Florida, causing destruction that left the University further in debt. In spite of tremendous adversity, the University managed to open its doors on October 15, 1926, offering programs in the liberal arts and music to 560 students. The School of Law was added in 1928 and the Schools of Business and Education were created in 1929.

The Florida depression that followed the collapse of the real estate market and the national depression that started in 1929 added further financial burdens that brought the survival of the University into question. President Ashe had to resort to borrowing on his personal insurance policy to pay faculty salaries. Still in debt, the University filed a petition for bankruptcy in 1932. Determined to keep the University going, President Ashe and others formed a new corporation, The University of Miami, Inc., and in 1934, at an auction, bought back the University's property for $15,758.84.

The 1940s were a time of great change at the University. During World War II, President Ashe arranged to have university facilities available for training U.S. Army and British Royal Air Force personnel. In addition, the war gave the University reason to expand its facilities. The Graduate School was created in 1941 and the Marine Laboratory was formally established in 1943. In 1947, shortly after the war ended, the School of Engineering was founded, and the University began the excavation of Lake Osceola.

Growth continued at the University in the 1950s. The School of Medicine, the first to be accredited in the state of Florida, was founded in March of 1952. After President Ashe fell ill and subsequently died in December of 1952, Jay F. W. Pearson was named the second president of UM in January of 1953. President Pearson served in that capacity until 1962. During his tenure, the first computer on the UM campus was installed in the Engineering Building and the Board of Trustees removed all racial barriers from admission policies.

Henry King Stanford became the University's third president on April 18, 1962. The Department of Nursing, which originated as a department in the College of Arts and Sciences, became the School of Nursing in 1968. Also in 1968, with a gift from The Rosenstiel Foundation, the University obtained a deed for 9.7 acres of land on Virginia Key. Shortly after these events, in 1969 the Institute of Marine Science (formerly the Marine Laboratory) became a school and several months later was renamed the Rosenstiel School of Marine and Atmospheric Science. Although continuing education classes had been offered since 1926, the University formally founded the School of Continuing Studies in 1974.

Edward T. Foote II was inaugurated as the University's fourth president in 1981. Under his leadership, the University was selected to shelter a chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, the nation's oldest and most prestigious honor society. Three additional schools were also founded in the eighties: Architecture (1983), the Graduate School of International Studies (1983), and the School of Communication (1985). In 1997, the Graduate School of International Studies was reorganized to offer undergraduate degree programs and was renamed the School of International Studies. President Foote also led a capital campaign that raised over $500 million, at the time the third largest campaign in American higher education.

Donna E. Shalala became the University's fifth president in 2001. At the time of her inauguration, the University celebrated its 75th anniversary. In 2002, the School of International Studies was disestablished and combined with the College of Arts and Sciences. The following year, the School of Continuing Studies was disestablished and its responsibilities were moved into the Division of Enrollments and Continuing Studies. In October 2003, the University announced Momentum, The Campaign for the University of Miami, a billion-dollar effort to accelerate progress, empower learning and discovery, and intensify our impact on people in our city, across the country, and around the world, since expanded to $1.25 billion. In 2007, the University purchased Cedars Medical Center, a 560-bed facility located in the Miami Health District just across from the Miller School of Medicine. The facility is now known as the University of Miami Hospital

Overview:

The University is a private not-for-profit institution and has been classified by the Carnegie Commission as a Very High Research University. The University's 11 colleges and schools offer the following areas of study: 114 undergraduate, 104 master's, and 57 doctoral (53 research/scholarship and 4 professional practice).

Campuses:

Five UM campuses incorporate 191 University-owned buildings totaling 10.6 million gross square feet on over 500 acres of land.

Coral Gables: The Main campus, located on 230-acres in suburban Coral Gables, houses two colleges and seven schools with 122 buildings totaling 6.0 million gross square feet. Since 2000, approximately 815,000 square feet of new facilities have opened on the Coral Gables campus – the Bank United Center, the Martha and Austin Weeks Music Library and Technology Center, the Fred C. and Helen D. Flipse Building, the David Epstein and Bernie Kosar Faculty Building at the School of Business Administration, the Hecht Athletic Center, the Yaron Field House, Francis L. Wolfson Building at the School of Communication and Cobb Stadium, the Jorge M. Perez Architecture Center, the M. Christine Schwartz Center for Nursing and Health Studies, the School of Communication Student Center, the Palley Pavilion at the Lowe Art Museum, and the University Village (the first housing project in over 30 years which contains 800 student beds). New parking facilities totaling over 2,800 spaces have been added with 4 new parking garages and a new surface parking lot. New projects are underway with the addition of the Multi Purpose and Practice Facility adjacent to the Bank United Center, 16 new townhomes for faculty and staff, and a clubhouse building at the Mark Light Field at Alex Rodriguez Park. The Robert and Judi Prokop Newman Alumni Center is under construction and the new Student Activity Center and Miguel B. Fernandez Entrepreneurship Building will begin construction this year.

Medical Campus: The Leonard M. Miller School of Medicine campus consists of approximately 68-acres of owned and leased land within the 153-acre University of Miami/Jackson Memorial Medical Center complex. The medical center includes three University-owned hospitals that make up the University of Miami Health System (UHealth): University of Miami Hospital, Sylvester Comprehensive Cancer Center and Anne Bates Leach Eye Hospital, home to Bascom Palmer Eye Institute. Bascom Palmer was ranked the number one eye hospital in the country for the fifth year in a row in the 2008 annual survey of "America's Best Hospitals" published in U.S. News & World Report; three other programs also ranked among the best. Our primary affiliated hospitals on the medical campus include Jackson Memorial Hospital, Holtz Children's Hospital and the Miami VA Medical Center. Miller School of Medicine faculty conduct more than 1,700 research projects in basic science and clinical care in facilities totaling more than 500,000 square feet of research space. The Biomedical Research Building and a two-story wet lab building are scheduled to be completed in 2009, adding 200,000 square feet of research space. Plans are underway to build the UM Life Science Park on 2 million square feet of space adjacent to the medical campus. The facility will bring together academia and industry for collaboration in bioscience research and innovation.

Rosenstiel School Campus: The Rosenstiel School of Marine and Atmospheric Science is one of the top five marine and atmospheric research and graduate education programs in the U.S. Located on an 18-acre waterfront campus on Virginia Key, Florida, in Biscayne Bay, the School's main campus is part of a 65-acre marine research and education park that includes two U.S. Department of Commerce National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) research laboratories and the MAST Academy, the Miami-Dade County magnet high school for marine science and technology. The Rosenstiel School operates CSTARS (Center for Southeastern Tropical Advanced Remote Sensing) located on Richmond Campus in south Miami-Dade County, which conducts research with remotely sensed data received from earth-orbiting satellite systems. The School also oversees the operation of an archeological field research and education facility on 112 acres at Little Salt Springs, located in North Port, Florida.

South Campus: The south campus, located ten miles southwest of Coral Gables, opened in 1986 on a 106-acre site. Its seven buildings provide 58,724 gross square feet for the purpose of conducting research and development projects. In 1997 an additional 30 acres were acquired bringing the total area of the south campus to 136 acres.

Richmond Campus: The Richmond campus, established in 2001, is a 76-acre site near south campus. Research facilities for the Rosenstiel School's Center for Southeastern Tropical Advanced Remote Sensing (CSTARS) and Richmond Satellite Operations Center (RSOC) are located on a portion of the new campus.

Other Facilities: The University of Miami Conference Center at the James L. Knight International Center adjoining the 618-room Hyatt Regency Hotel in downtown Miami houses a 5,000-seat theater, a 444-seat theater, and 19 meeting rooms, with teleconference, downlink, and internet capabilities. The John J. Koubek Memorial Center located in the heart of Little Havana includes the historic Koubek mansion, with a seven-classroom annex, computer lab, and a 180-seat auditorium. The gardens of the Koubek Center are also available for parties, receptions, and other events. The University also has a presence at IMG Academies in Bradenton, Florida where English as a Second Language, credit courses, and professional development opportunities are offered.

Schools and Colleges:

School of Architecture: The School of Architecture, founded in 1983, offers professionally accredited undergraduate and graduate degrees and post-graduate degrees in Suburb and Town Design, and Research. In 2008, the School added three new programs: the Master of Real estate Development and Urbanism, an interdisciplinary one-year graduate program that engages faculty from the Schools of Business Administration and Law as well as Architecture; the six-year Bachelor of Architecture/Master of Business Administration program; and the Certficiate in Historic Preservation. Two community outreach programs, the Center for Urban and Community Design and the Knight Program in Community Building, have been providing students with hands on experience in community improvement nationally and internationally. More than half of enrolled students participate in study-abroad programs in Europe, Asia, the Caribbean basin, and Latin America. In addition, the School sponsors fall and spring semester programs in Robe for an intensive experience in design, theory, and history of architecture. Facilities at the School include studio workspace for each student, an architecture reference library linked to universitywide resources, the New Urbanism Archive, a computer laboratory, a model shop, and the Jorge M. Perez Center with lecture and exhibition space. In 2006, the School received a prestigious Charter Award from the Congress for the New Urbanism (CNU) for student design of hurricane relief housing. Other awards include the 2007 John Nolen Medal from the Florida chapter of the CNU for contributions to urbanism in Florida, and a grant from the James Deering Danielson Foundation for faculty to complete a book on the history of Miami-Dade County parks. Architect and town planner Elizabeth Plater-Zyberk, a long time UM faculty member, is dean of the School. Named a Distinguished Professor by the University, she received with Andres Duany, her partner in practice, the Richard H. Driehaus Prize for Classical Architecture from Notre Dame University in 2007.

College of Arts and Sciences: Founded at the University's inception in 1926 and housed in 22 buildings throughout the Coral Gables campus, parts of the medical campus and in the surrounding community, the College of Arts and Sciences enrolls over 4,500 undergraduate and almost 550 graduate students in 20 departments and 8 interdisciplinary programs. Undergraduate students may choose among 46 different majors, and fifteen departments offer graduate degrees in the arts, natural sciences, humanities, and social sciences. Several of the majors available to undergraduates in the College are offered in partnership with other schools at the University. These majors include economics, offered in cooperation with the School of Business, microbiology and biochemistry with the Miller School of Medicine, and musical theatre with the Frost School of Music. Degrees offered by the School of Education require a second major from among those offered by the College of Arts and Sciences. Selected freshmen participate in the College's guaranteed admissions programs to one of the University's graduate degree programs in medicine, law, and Latin American studies. The faculty of the College teach over half of the total credit hours taken by undergraduate students in all schools and colleges of the University of Miami. Among the almost 450 full-time faculty—who teach courses to all undergraduate students at the University—are award-winning teachers and research scholars, recognized nationally and internationally in their disciplines. These include editors of prominent journals, fellows of numerous professional societies, prize-winning creative writers, and members of important government research review and advisory boards. The College also provides arranged community outreach activities, such as student productions at the Jerry Herman Ring Theatre and Alvin Sherman Family Stage; student, faculty, and visiting artist exhibitions in the College of Arts and Sciences Gallery; volunteer activities in the public schools, Law School clinics, hospitals and community clinics for developmentally disabled children; technology workshops for Miami-Dade public school teachers sponsored through the Modern Languages Laboratory; a series of programs, hosted by the Biology and Psychology Departments and funded by various federal agencies and private foundations, geared to improving the participation of minorities in scientific careers through research opportunities for pre-college and undergraduate students; and career development opportunities for highschool and community-college faculty.

School of Business Administration: The School of Business Administration was founded in 1929 and is accredited by AACSB International (the Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business) and SACS (the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools). The School offers degrees at the bachelor's, master's and doctoral levels, as well as non-degree executive programs. In addition to the full time master's programs, the School offers an Executive M.B.A. (EMBA) program which is among the largest of its kind in the United States. Now in its 35th year, the EMBA program is offered on evenings and weekends on the main campus in Coral Gables and off–campus across Florida and overseas. The School reflects the richness of a culturally diverse international community and provides an environment in which the creation and dissemination of business knowledge flourishes. The School continues to build on its outstanding faculty, to enhance its position as a premier school of business.

The School currently enrolls over 1,240 undergraduates and approximately 110 graduate students with a full-time faculty of 60 scholars and professionals. Major undergraduate programs of study in the School include electronic media and broadcast journalism, print journalism, visual journalism, advertising, public relations, motion pictures, media management, and communication studies. Graduate programs of study at the Master's level include communication studies, public relations, broadcast and print journalism, motion pictures, and a Spanishlanguage journalism program. In addition, the School offers a doctoral program in communication. Its broad range of student facilities and activities include the free speech "Common Ground" courtyard, a sound stage, digital television and radio studios, broadcast uplink capability, all digital post-production facilities, a moving image archives including over 2000 classic motion pictures, computer and graphics labs, a working news bureau, a multi-media lab, two video conferencing facilities, an audio production lab, a state of the art theater, extensive online resources, and a nationally recognized debate team. In addition the School has placement and career development resources and services that provide excellent opportunities for students to secure professional internships while they are in school and professional positions when they graduate.

School of Education: The mission of the School of Education (SOE) is to "...engage in scholarly research and to prepare leaders in the study and promotion of family, school, and community well-being. Our research, teaching, and service integrate the physical, emotional, intellectual, organizational, and social well-being of diverse populations." Founded in 1929, the SOE houses the departments of educational and psychological studies, exercise and sport sciences, and teaching and learning.

The Department of Educational and Psychological Studies offers graduate programs in research and statistics, enrollment management, counseling, and counseling psychology. The Department's Ph.D. program in counseling psychology is accredited by the American Psychological Association (APA). The counseling master's degree specialties lead to professional licensure in Mental Health Counseling and Marriage and Family Therapy in Florida, and the Counseling Psychology program leads to licensure as a psychologist.

The Department of Exercise and Sport Sciences offers undergraduate majors in exercise physiology, athletic training and sports administration. The undergraduate athletic training major is nationally accredited by the Commission on Accreditation of Athletic Training Education (CAATE). Undergraduate minors are offered in sports medicine, exercise science, sport administration, and leadership. Master's degree programs are offered in exercise physiology, with a track in sports medicine, and sport administration. The Sport Administration master's program is one of the 27 graduate programs in the U.S. approved by the North American Society for Sport Management (NASSM). The Department offers a Ph.D. program in exercise physiology, with a track in women's health.

The Department of Teaching and Learning offers undergraduate majors in elementary education and secondary education (including English, social sciences, biology, chemistry and mathematics). All TAL majors require a second affiliated major and are approved by the Florida Department of Education for teacher certification in their respective fields. The Department also offers a minor that fulfills the state's Professional Training Option within an alternative certification track in each of the above secondary education areas. Master's and Educational Specialist degree programs that can lead to appropriate licensures are offered in early childhood special education. The Department's research doctoral program offers specializations in Language and Literacy Learning in Multilingual Settings, Mathematics/Science Education, and Special Education.

Structured professional internships, professional development schools, and an on-campus technology lab provide students in all majors with outstanding unique experiential learning opportunities.

College of Engineering: The College of Engineering was founded in 1947 and offers degrees in aerospace, architectural, biomedical, civil, computer, electrical, environmental, industrial, information technology, and mechanical engineering, as well as engineering science. Due to a well-established tradition of collaboration among the University of Miami schools and colleges, students are able to participate in a number of cross-disciplinary programs. As examples, the biomedical engineering program involves a partnership with the School of Medicine, including a premedical concentration; the architectural engineering program with the School of Architecture; the audio engineering program with the School of Music; and the industrial engineering program with the School of Business Administration. Masters and doctoral degrees are also offered in a number of areas, with several specializations in each field of study. The College boasts a diverse student body consisting of students from nearly 50 different countries and continues to attract dedicated young women and Hispanics to the profession, with a female student enrollment of 27% and a Hispanic enrollment of 33%, both considerably higher than their respective national averages. Students enjoy active participation in a number of honor societies and professional organizations. The College is also establishing a number of student and faculty exchange programs with engineering schools throughout the Americas, Middle East, Europe, Asia, and Australia. Industrial partnerships are likewise being promulgated to provide real-world capstone experiences and relevant research endeavors. The College has extensive strength and experience in healthcare and technobiology (i.e., application of technology to biomedical issues), informatics and risk (i.e., modeling and evidencebased decision making), and sustainable systems (i.e., energy and environment). Our distinguished faculty includes several National Science Foundation early career awardees and two members of the prestigious U. S. National Academy of Engineering.

Frost School of Music: The Frost School of Music, founded in 1926, is one of the largest schools of its kind in a private institution and one of the most comprehensive in all of higher learning. With nearly 80 full-time and 40 part-time faculty, an undergraduate student body of approximately 430 undergraduate students, and 190 graduate students, the School awards the Bachelor of Music degree with majors in 13 areas and the Bachelor of Science in Music Engineering. The Bachelor of Arts in music degree is a nonprofessional degree designed for talented musicians who wish to pursue a broad liberal arts education. The Master of Music is offered with majors in 19 areas. The Master of Science degree is offered in music engineering technology. The Doctor of Philosophy degree is offered in music education, and the Doctor of Musical Arts degree is offered in nine areas. The Frost School offers four undergraduate minors, including The Bruce Hornsby Creative American Music Program, a minor in songwriting. The Henry Mancini Institute is housed within the School, and offers intensive performing and learning experiences across a broad spectrum of musical genres, including film, world, jazz and pop-inflected musical styles. The School's facilities include the Maurice Gusman Concert Hall, The L. Austin Weeks Center for Recording and Performance, which contains the Victor E. Clarke Recital Hall and a state of the art recording studio (one of two professional quality studios in the School), the 28,000 square-foot Austin and Marta Weeks Music Library and Technology Center, containing six music technology labs, and an array of other rehearsal and teaching facilities. Many of the School's faculty have gained national and international recognition in their respective fields. Several of the School's premier performing ensembles have won national awards and engage in touring within and outside the United States. The School has exchange programs with the Sibelius Academy in Helsinki, Finland; Buckinghamshire Chilterns University College in Buckinghamshire, England; the Western Australian Academy of Performing Arts at Edith Cowan University in Perth, Australia; and a five-week summer opera program in Salzburg, Austria. During the academic year the School presents more than 300 forums, student and faculty recitals, concerts, lectures, master classes, and guest artist performances.

As a major educational and cultural resource for South Florida, the Frost School maintains a substantive philosophical and proactive commitment to serving a variety of constituencies by way of its numerous outreach programs, including Festival Miami, The Stamps Family Charitable Foundation Distinguished Visitor Series, Grammy in the Schools: Careers in Music, The Ress Family Hospital Performance Project, Friends of Music, Inc., Honor Band and Honor Choir, Dance Preparatory, Keyboard Preparatory, Strings Academy, UM MusicTime, Music Education Days, and summer music camps for children and students from 2 months to 19 years old. Frost MusicReach is a program that pairs freshman music majors with at-risk seventh graders for four years of substantive and consistent mentoring. The School of Music has active student chapters of a number of professional music organizations.

Graduate School: The University of Miami first approved courses for graduate work in 1941. In the late 1950s the University initiated study to award the doctorate, and the first degrees at this level were approved in 1959. Currently, graduate student enrollment stands at over 2,800. The University and its over 150 masters and doctoral programs are fully accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, as well as by a number of other independent accrediting agencies. The faculty of the Graduate School currently consists of over 800 members within the University. The Graduate School sets all policies for graduate education and oversees the quality of graduate programs. Its operation is conducted by the Graduate Council and its standing Graduate Faculty Committees. The mission of the Graduate School is to promote graduate education, scholarship, and research; to support individuals, departments, and programs in the pursuit of excellence; to foster innovation, multidisciplinary, and interdisciplinary activities; and to maintain high ethical and academic standards in graduate studies.

Law School: Founded in 1926, the University of Miami School of Law presently enrolls over 1,350 candidates for either J.D. or LL.M. degrees and has over 17,800 alumni worldwide. The J.D. program enrolls 1,235 students from more than 365 colleges and universities throughout the United States. Of the entering J.D. students, approximately 40 percent are women, 32 percent are members of minority groups, and 55 percent are from outside Florida. The School offers graduate programs in comparative law, inter-American law, international law, ocean and coastal law, taxation, estate planning, and real property development. The graduate program in comparative law typically enrolls approximately 40 foreign lawyers from 20 or more nations. The School also offers several joint degree programs that combine a J.D. with a Masters in Business Administration, Marine Affairs or Public Health, or an L.L.M. in Tax. The School's renowned faculty includes approximately 70 full-time professors and over 100 distinguished lawyers and judges who serve as adjunct professors. The Law Library is one of the country's leading legal research libraries, with close to 600,000 bound volumes and volume equivalents. It has special collections in taxation, estate planning, ocean law, and foreign and international law, including one of the most comprehensive Latin American and Caribbean collections in the U.S. The School is accredited by the American Bar Association, is a member of the Association of American Law Schools, and has a chapter of the national law student honorary society, the Order of the Coif.

Medical School: Though one of the youngest medical schools in the U.S., the University of Miami Leonard M. Miller School of Medicine, founded in 1952, has earned national acclaim for research, clinical care, and biomedical innovations. The school has more than 1,400 full-time clinical and basic science faculty members and an additional 1,350 professionals from the community serving as voluntary faculty in various departments. Along with the M.D. degree, the school offers two specialized B.S./M.D. programs, a combined M.D./Ph.D. program, graduate degrees in nine areas, postdoctoral programs and continuing medical education courses.

Located north of downtown Miami near the Civic Center in an area recently named the Miami Health District, the school's campus consists of approximately 68-acres of owned and leased land within the 153-acre University of Miami/Jackson Memorial Medical Center complex. Each year the University of Miami Health System's more than 800 faculty physicians have more than one million patient encounters in primary care and more than 30 specialties.

University of Miami Hospital is the flagship hospital of the University of Miami Health System (UHealth). The University also owns two other hospitals: Sylvester Comprehensive Cancer Center and Anne Bates Leach Eye Hospital, home of Bascom Palmer Eye Institute. For the fifth year in a row, Bascom Palmer was named the number one eye hospital in the country by U.S. News & World Report in its annual "America's Best Hospitals" issue. Three additional specialties were also ranked among the nation's best.

In addition to the three University-owned hospitals, there are also three primary hospitals affiliated with UHealth: Jackson Memorial Hospital, the primary teaching hospital for the medical school; Holtz Children's Hospital; and the Miami VA Medical Center. There are also outpatient clinics across Miami-Dade, Broward and Palm Beach counties and in Naples.

Other clinical and research programs include the Miami Institute for Human Genomics, the Interdisciplinary Stem Cell Institute, the Comprehensive AIDS Program, the Miami Transplant Institute, The Miami Project to Cure Paralysis, the Diabetes Research Institute, the Mailman Center for Child Development and many more. Also located in the medical complex is the Louis Calder Memorial Library, the largest medical resource library in South Florida.

Fully accredited by the Liaison Committee on Medical Education of the Association of American Medical Colleges, the Miller School of Medicine is committed to graduating first-rate physicians and leads the nation in establishing innovative curriculum and admissions policies. Among the many student activities that reflect the commitment to community service are the various health fairs put on by the Mitchell Wolfson, Sr. Department of Community Service (DOCS) Program. The students and volunteer physicians coordinate events in eight medically underserved communities each year, in addition to coordinating a weekly volunteer clinic in Miami.

School of Nursing and Health Studies: A tradition of academic leadership and community service has characterized nursing at the University of Miami since 1948, when it became the first collegiate nursing program in South Florida. The School of Nursing and Health Studies is committed to academic excellence, the advancement of nursing and health science professions, and service to society through innovative and socially responsive programs of health education and research. All programs emphasize culturally competent care, which recognizes an individual's unique health beliefs and practices.

The School has offered the master's degree since 1976, and the doctoral program admitted its first students in 1985. In February 2005, the school expanded its curriculum to include UM's Health Science program and changed its name from the School of Nursing to the School of Nursing and Health Studies. Situating the Health Science program at the school enables the University of Miami to integrate course offerings for individuals who wish to work in a variety of health care fields. The School's curriculum includes programs leading to the B.S.N., M.S.N., Ph.D., and D.N.P. in nursing degrees as well as the B.S. in Health Science degree. Nursing programs are accredited by the Commission on Collegiate Nursing Education, American College of Nurse-Midwives, and Council on Accreditation of Nurse Anesthesia Education Programs. The school offers an Accelerated B.S.N. program for individuals who hold undergraduate degrees in other fields and a weekend B.S.N. program for individuals who are already employed as R.N.s. Distance learning and post-baccalaureate certificate programs are offered in key areas such as education, research, and administration. At the graduate level, the School offers a research-based Ph.D. program, a clinically focused Doctor of Nursing Practice (D.N.P.) program, and M.S.N. programs in the following fields: Nurse Anesthesia, Family Practitioner, Acute Care Practitioner, and Education. Postmaster's certificate programs that prepare certified Nurse Practitioners for additional specialty areas are offered in Acute Care, Family Practitioner, Education, and Psychiatric Mental Health.

The world-class M. Christine Schwartz Center for Nursing and Health Studies opened on the Coral Gables campus in December 2006. The building offers state-of-the art classrooms, research facilities, and the International Academy for Clinical Simulation and Research where high-fidelity patient simulation enables to students to improve their clinical and crucial thinking skills prior to interaction with patients. Students obtain clinical experiences in a variety of agencies throughout Miami-Dade, Broward, Palm Beach, and Monroe counties, including hospitals, elementary and secondary schools, primary health care centers, migrant camps, day-care centers, nurse-managed health centers, and health departments. The University of Miami chapter of Sigma Theta Tau, the International Honor Society of Nursing, invites qualified students to join the second largest nursing organization in the United States. Students are also encouraged to join the National Student Nurses Association and the Black Student Nurses Association, which are designed to perpetuate the ideals and aspirations of the nursing profession.

Rosenstiel School of Marine and Atmospheric Science: The Rosenstiel School of Marine and Atmospheric Science is one of the leading oceanographic research and education institutions in the nation. Known originally as the University's marine laboratory, it was founded in 1943. It evolved into the Institute for Marine Science in 1961, and eight years later became the Rosenstiel School of Marine and Atmospheric Science within the University of Miami.

The Virginia Key campus has grown to include modern research and teaching facilities, a dedicated academic library, and an internationally recognized Marine Invertebrate Museum. The Rosenstiel School also operates a state-of-the-art catamaran research vessel, the F.G. Walton Smith, and pioneered the first-ever marine and atmospheric laboratory aboard a cruise ship, Royal Caribbean Cruise Lines' Explorer of the Seas.

CSTARS (Center for Southeastern Tropical Advanced Remote Sensing) located on the Richmond campus in south Miami-Dade county is the Rosenstiel School's newest facility conducting research with remotely sensed data received from earth-orbiting satellite systems. This state-of-the-art real-time reception and analysis facility provides data for environmental monitoring of the equatorial Atlantic region, northern South America, Central America, the Caribbean Basin, the Gulf of Mexico and the Southeastern United States.

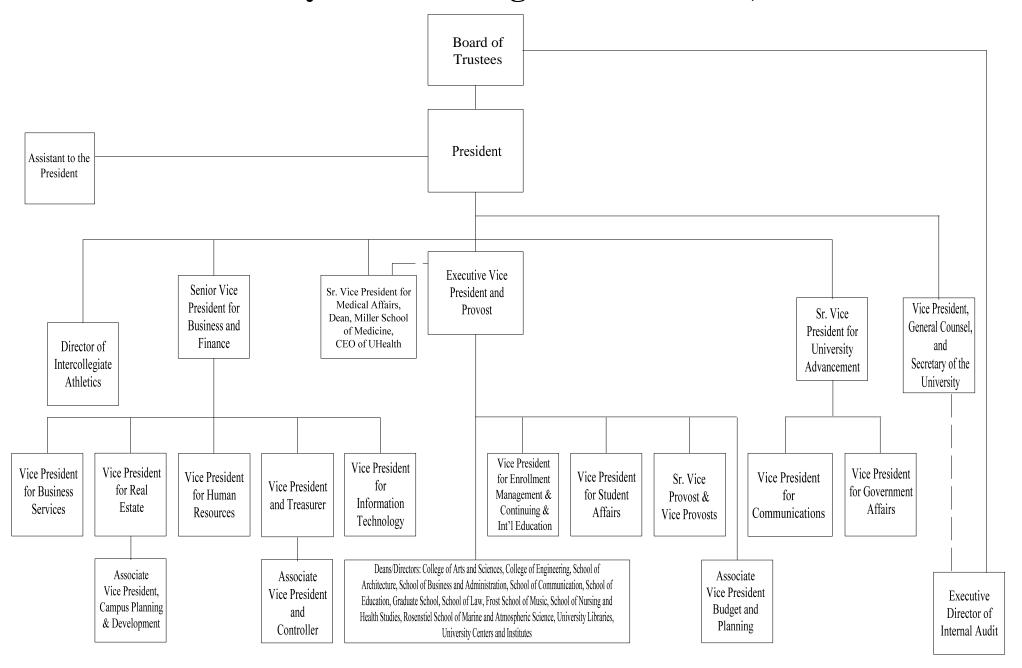

As the only subtropical institute of its kind in the continental United States, the Rosenstiel School's more than 100 faculty members, over 200 graduate students, 130 undergraduate students and 250 research support staff comprise a robust academic community. Through excellence in applied and basic marine and atmospheric research and linking these results to policy, the Rosenstiel School sheds light on today's most pressing environmental issues. Scientists and students at Rosenstiel study a wide range of important topics, many of which relate to the environment and humanity's growing impacts on the natural world. They are at the forefront of research on subjects such as ocean and atmospheric circulation and how they affect the movement of pollutants, global warming, fisheries, coral reefs, sea level change, oceans and human health, marine policy, and hurricane development.

Through course work and research, Rosenstiel School students obtain graduate degrees in applied marine physics, marine affairs and policy, marine and atmospheric chemistry, marine biology and fisheries, marine geology and geophysics, and meteorology and physical oceanography. The division of marine affairs and policy at the Rosenstiel School and the University of Miami School of Law offer a joint degree in law and marine affairs. Upon completion of this program, a student earns a Juris Doctor degree from the School of Law and a Master of Arts degree in marine affairs and policy from the Rosenstiel School. The division of marine affairs and policy also offers an interdisciplinary Master of Science degree with an integrated track in science and policy, providing students with a strong science background the opportunity to build careers in marine resource management.

The Rosenstiel School welcomed its first undergraduate class in Fall 2008. Previously offered jointly with the College of Arts and Sciences, oversight of the University's undergraduate Marine Science, Meteorology, and Marine Affairs programs has shifted to the Rosenstiel School. Students may study toward the following degrees: Bachelor of Arts (B.A.) degree in marine affairs and policy, Bachelor of Science (B.S.) degrees in marine science/biology, marine science/chemistry, marine science/geology, marine science/physics, and meteorology. There are two options leading to a B.S. in meteorology: a double-major in meteorology and applied mathematics, or a meteorology major with a math minor and one additional minor selected from chemistry, physics, computer science, or biology. In addition to the traditional bachelor degree programs, students may also elect a five-year B.A./Master of Arts (M.A.) in marine affairs and policy and a five-year B.S./Master of Science (M.S.) in geological sciences/marine geology. Undergraduate students in these programs have opportunities to participate in research projects at the Rosenstiel School, working alongside world-class scientists in laboratories and in the field.

Cutting-edge research and education at the Rosenstiel School is supported through grants from government agencies and private organizations, as well as innovative partnerships and individual donations. Graduate students are an integral part of the research effort, and research programs, many of which are multidisciplinary in nature and provide a dynamic environment for collaboration among professors and students.

^{*} NSF obligations are not reported by UM. Information is obtained by NSF from other governmental agencies. Obligations represent the amount of orders placed, contracts awarded, services rendered, and similar transactions during a given period, regardless of when the funds were appropriated and when future payment of money is required. Obligations differ from expenditures in that funds allocated by federal agencies during one fiscal year may be spent by the recipient institution either partially or entirely during one or more subsequent years.

Sources: National Science Foundation Survey of Research and Development Expenditures at Universities and Colleges; National Institutes of Health.

^{} The total cost given in the awards above is the sum of the direct and indirect costs for each fiscal year, and not for the life of the project. Note: Beginning in FY2006, NIH no longer provides comparative ranking tables on its medical research funding. Although it was possible to recreate rankings for awards to U.S. Medical Schools for FY 2006 and later, rankings for awards to U.S. Institutions of Higher Education were not reproducable. Fiscal year is based on NIH fiscal year, not UM's fiscal year.
